Student Council Discusses Bell

Student council of BJC met Tuesday to discuss some important student problems. One of the problems discussed was that of obtaining a bell placed on the campus to be rung at Homecoming and as a signal on the campus.

Also discussed was the possibility of obtaining a sign to be put on the Capitol boulevard end of the campus for advertising some student activities.

It was also suggested that the entry way on College boulevard leading to the Student Union, be marked so that it can be easily found at night.

If you have any suggestions concerning these problems or if you have any further problems please contact any student council member.

Future Plans Set For Queens' Grove

A Queens' Grove was started recently by the Esquires. Seven trees were planted and named after past homecoming queens and one after Pat Dolan, this year's queen.

Besides making this tree planting a yearly project, the Esquires plan to develop Queens' Grove into a picnic area. According to Nick Karagianes, Esquire president, no definite plans have been made for additions to the area this year but future clubs will build a fireplace and set up picnic tables.

Sally Robbins, home economist for the Idaho Power Co., will show two movies tomorrow, December 9, at 1:00 in room 209. They will be "Adequate Lighting in the Home" and "Kitchen of Tomorrow." Anyone interested is invited.

Chaffee Takes Three-In-One Trip

Dr. Eugene Chaffee, College president, left Friday, November 28, to attend a meeting of the higher conference of the Northwest Association of Secondary and Higher Schools in Salt Lake City.

The meeting was for the purpose of setting up accreditation standards of the association.

A secondary purpose of the trip was to visit some nursing schools for ideas on the one BJC may have next September.

Men interested in student deferment from the service are urged to take the selective service tests to be given December 9 in room 110 at 8:00 a.m.

Mr. Mathews, in making this announcement, stated that a "C" average in all divisions of the test must be made in order to receive a deferment.

Art Course Given On TV

"Art for You," a course surveying painting, styles, and art, is now being featured on television over station KBOI each Saturday at 6:00 p.m.

Mr. Conan Mathews is the instructor, and college credit is given for the course.

Twenty students are enrolled, from as far south as Buhl, Idaho, and as far north as Richland, Ore.

Choir Christmas Program Scheduled For December 12

The annual candle-light Christmas program of the BJC music department will be given December 12, at 8:00 p.m., according to an announcement made Tuesday by Prof. C. Griffith Bratt.

Shirley Rigney, voice student, will be featured soloist in a special cantata arranged for the solo voice, with organ, flute, violin, and bassoon accompaniment. Accompanists will be Sidney Hultgren, organ; Karlin Wiley, flute; Marian Peterson, violin, and Bill Schink, bassoon.

The choir will render 14 selections of carol arrangements and other Christmas music.

A brass quartet also will be featured, under the direction of Mr. John Best.

In making this announcement, Mr. Bratt stated that the program is open to the public, and should prove to be one of the most enjoyable musical events of the year. There is no charge.

HEY, KIDS!

There will be a Union dance this weekend, Friday, December 10. Come one, come all.

Broncos Taste First Defeat This Year In Potato Bowl

The grim spectre of defeat finally caught up with the Broncos of Coach Lyle Smith in the form of a 7-6 defeat at the hands of Compton Junior College in the 1954 Potato Bowl game. Some 15,000 fans sat and watched one of the hardest fought games that this seven-year old classic has produced and the outcome was only decided on the last minute of play when the Compton safety intercepted a Bronco pass to give them the ball with just 56 seconds left to play.

For the entire first period of play the Big Orange pushed the Comptonites all over the field and started a couple of TD drives stopped by Compton resistance and penalties at the right times.

Then in the second period Eddie Lodge broke loose for a dramatic 69-yard run that put the Broncos in the lead. First of all, the Broncos were set back by a series of 5-yard offside and backfield-in-motion penalties. Then on the same play that was called back, Eddie Lodge hit right guard and tackle, cut to his left, broke away from two tacklers and fled straight down the field for the score.

Guard Jim Braud's conversion attempt was blocked by a Compton lineman and the Broncos led by 6-0.

Again in the final moments of the second period Eddie Lodge broke loose, cut to the left sideline and ran to the Compton 6-yard line before being pushed way out of bounds. It was at this point that Eddie Lodge was knocked out of the game. In a few plays the Broncos had the ball, fourth down and six inches to go for the score. Big Fred Miklancic took a slightly

A House Divided

Do you, the student body of BJC, know the definition of the word "clique"? The meaning of "clique" is a group of people always together who don't associate with anyone outside of their own group.

I know that most of you probably know this definition, but have you taken time to see what it is doing to our school?

There are three groups of students here at the college: The so-called Boise group, BJC dorm group, and the nurses.

The nurses, who are here just a few days a week, practically refuse to have anything to do with the rest of us here.

A lot of the girls from the two hospitals have gone to school in Boise for years and associated with kids, to whom at the present time they will not so much as say a friendly hello.

The nurses who I have spoken to on this subject say the reason that they do not associate with the other kids is that they feel they don't belong. So they just stick together and have nothing to do with the rest of us.

I myself feel that they needn't feel this way about the whole thing but even if they do, the easiest way in the world to make friends is to smile and say hello. Pretty soon the other kids would return the gesture.

I know it must be hard for the nurses here because most of them do want to belong, but they have no activity tickets (which is their own fault), but they still can't take part in the activities. They have to be in by 9:30 every night but Saturday night when they can stay out until 12. The rest of you kids can see it is hard on them. Why, when you see a strange girl on campus, don't you smile and say a friendly hello?

Now for the Boise group and the BJC group — they seem the biggest bunch of cliques and snobs that ever existed, but, they aren't. Just because most of the kids from Boise who are attending BJC this year have known each other since the first grade or shortly thereafter, and because they stick together, they are said not to even as much as talk to or associate in any way with the dorm kids. They may stick together in a group, but they have tried to associate with the dorm kids who won't accept them. This doesn't pertain to all of the dorm kids. Some of them have tried to mix — finding a brick wall, too. There just isn't any give or take.

Both seem to think they are so much better than the other, yet will either take part? NO.

For example, while a club was making a float for Homecoming on which a lot of the Boise kids were working, a few dorm kids went down to help. In all the time they were working they didn't say over a half dozen words to the Boise group. The Boise girls tried to talk to them but they were ignored. Why should this be?

There really isn't any reason. Just like there is no reason for all the unfriendliness that goes on in the class rooms. When you come right down to it, even though some think so, there isn't one person out here any better than another.

Up to the past few years BJC has been noted all over as a very friendly school, but it won't be long until it will be known as a school where only a bunch of cliques go.

The girls are much worse than the boys as far as grouping and unfriendliness is concerned.

There should be a solution to the problem. I suggest that the girls hold a luncheon at noon and all of the girls attend. In this way we all would probably make a lot of friends and the word

Club News

Valkyries

A Thanksgiving basket for a needy family in Boise was sponsored by the Valkyries.

Initiation for four new members was held Tuesday, November 23, at Glenda Hall's. They were Helen Elguezabal, Marlene Mitchell, Sharon Day and Marian Peterson.

The Valkyries worked for the Cerebral Palsy fund raising radio program Saturday, November 27.

B-Cubes

At the last meeting various projects for raising money were discussed.

Miss Roe, advisor, gave a talk about the club and told what was expected of the B-Cubes. She outlined the coming events in which they will take part.

International Relations Club

The IRC has been selling Christmas cards for UNICEF, the agency for the United Nations which cares

"clique" might not even exist school any more.

The Union dances are held to mix the kids, but they are always held on Friday nights when most of the dorm kids go home. Maybe with us all working together, teachers as well as students, something can be worked out.

Give it some thought kids. Do you want to be known as a cliquey school or be known as a very friendly school?

The decision is all yours and I hope you make a good choice. It all depends upon you, the student body.

As Abe Lincoln once said, "A house divided against itself cannot stand."

for poverty stricken people in the world.

The club is planning a potluck dinner to be before Christmas vacation, with an interesting speaker as the main feature.

Morrison Hall

Morrison Hall had a guest several weeks ago. She was Judie Richmond, one of last year's students.

Jackie Selby, Betty Strickland, Lee McKinney, Janice Stills, Beverly Lynch, Liz Sharples and Jean Johnson, went to Bakersfield for our Potato Bowl game.

French Club

A French Club has been organized. Officers elected are: Julie Carter, president; Darrell Ryker, vice-president, and Roberta Wilson, secretary-treasurer.

The next meeting is scheduled for December 13.

Homettes

The regular meeting of the Homettes was November 18, with Miss Hattie Gesner as a guest speaker.

Melchiana Watenpaugh, a Japanese student who came to the United States last June, gave an interesting talk about home life, customs and the celebrations in her home country.

Wenstrom-Woodward Debate

Finals of the Bob Fifer inter-collegiate debate tournament were held Tuesday, Nov. 23, according to the official program. The winning team was the Wenstrom team, coached by the late Bob Fifer.

Wenstrom said this is an ancient debate sponsored by Bob Fifer. The winning team receiving $10.00 and second place team $10.00.

The year's winning team consisted of Rod Walston and Sherry Woodward. Second place team was made up of Doyle Nelson and Shaver.

The question for debate was: Should the United States extend diplomatic recognition to the communist government of China.

Following is a portion of a man's letter to his mother:

Mom,
I'm taking journalism. It must be a huntin' course cuz the prof says talking about dead lions. It's coming is Nov. 13 so I'll see you and Dad. It will be good to see you again.
Your son, Edgar."

Pi Sigma Sigma Holds Initiation For New Members

Man your brooms! Sweep! Sweep! These were the orders shouted as oddly dressed boys swept the halls and stairways of the administration building last week. Who were those broom handlers?

Some perhaps thought they were impersonating witches since the idea of a broom has always been connected with witches.

Others may have thought the navy had revived and altered the pre-revolutionary custom of tying a broom to the mast to indicate to merchants that the ship was sailing soon and the captain was ready to clear all the debts.

No, neither is correct. The sweepers are Pi Sigma Sigma initiates who were being put through the paces by the old members.

Their costume consisted of: a loud pajama top put on backwards, pants with legs of different material, loud tie hanging to waist that clashes with pajamas, odd shoes, odd socks on inside out, Pi Sigma Sigma shield over heart, and a broom to sweep a path for all old members.

Wednesday night the formal initiation was held in the Union. There were special treatment and many surprises for all the new members of the Pi Sigma Sigma.

? Question Box ?

It has been suggested that BJC have a school bell similar to the one at C. of I. What is your opinion?

Sylvia Griffin, sophomore, "What's the matter with the C. of I.'s bell?"

Mary Hansen, freshman, "I think it's more fun to steal the C. of I.'s bell."

Raymond Fowler, sophomore, "It would be fine if the bell is to be used properly at appropriate occasions."

Janice Patten, freshman, "I think it's silly to buy one when we can steal one!"

Kay Fletcher, special, "Why be a copy-cat?"

Carole Nelson, freshman, "No, it's more fun to steal the C. of I.'s—don't you think so?"

Dewey Hansen, sophomore, "Yes, I think so. Bells are pretty and fun to knock." (Well, at least it's a different thought!)

Nick Rudge, sophomore, "Why get a bell? It would deprive Richard Dick and Jim Coulson of their favorite extra-curricular activity."

Lona Jones, freshman, "It would be fine to attract attention for certain events, but C. of I. students might decide to avenge our stealing their bell."

Burl Pipkin, sophomore, "I think we should have something like a trojan horse to signify the Broncos."

Crooks Use Prof's Home As Hideout

What would you do if your home was invaded by a group of gangsters? To find one answer, students and faculty members may see "Bling Alley" as done by the studio players in the Studio theatre under the direction of Mr. Merrill Hansen, starting Wednesday, December 8 for a three-night run.

This action-packed drama is the first of the semi-annual productions of the BJC drama department. Tickets may be obtained from the main business office upon presentation of your student body ticket. Others may be purchased for 75 cents.

Freshmen are especially urged to come as not only is this good entertainment (It has appeared on Broadway and in the movies), but it ties in remarkably well with "Coming of Age in Our Times" and "Stresses and Strains of Our Times" in freshman composition.

Broncos Win Moral Victory

Bob Fulwyler leads interference for George Di Iorio, carrying the ball.

Statistics Show Broncos To Own Compton Territory

high pass from center, a huge pile of men and the air. A Compton player, Fred in the air and the back hit and pushed. The officials ruled that not hit pay dirt and Compton over on its goal line.

Compton started the drive by kicking off to the Broncos. It was their usual low, which prevented the Broncos from returning the ball very far. The game was quite even in the third period. However, the Broncos were given a couple of minutes to use them to score. Of all Compton tried to had their punter fumble from center and the center line hit him. This gave to the Broncos.

Later in the third period Di Iorio intercepted a pass behind good blocking, and was a smashing one by Fulwyler, returned the ball Compton 37-yard line.

Then started the fourth quarter. First of all Compton started a drive which the Broncos halted. The drive was stopped by a blocked kick. The Broncos on their eighth and Compton held and again they passed. Brenn, the Bronco punter, time Compton returned a deep into Bronco territory. A series of plays gave the Compton on the Bronco line. Then came the heart of the play. The Compton QB, off his T-spot faked to run into the center of the line, handed off to Jim Compton fullback. The Compton right guard pulled to the left, he collided with the fullback, the hole was open and the light raced the Compton fullback a couple of key blocks behind him on the Bronco side, halfback.

Compton's kick for good and while 15,000 fans knew it, that was the ball. Compton's tremendous power began to take its toll in the fourth period as the Broncos were forced to play the game almost the same group of players. In fact some of the Compton players were clean-shirted while Bronco players almost to were in dirty mud covered.

Compton scored again in the fourth period when Harry a pitch-out from his QB, his left as if to hit the then suddenly stopped and a pass to his right end all alone by the right Compton was ruled offside play. Then the Broncos stop the drive.

The Broncos ground 245 yards on the ground to ton's 180. However, Compton passing, gained 25 yards to the Broncos.

The loss marked the first that a Boise Junior College ever lost in the Potato Bowl. While Compton on the hand has never lost a season games—two of smashing victories in the House Bowl.

After the game many Compton players rated it as the hardest team they year with Camden of being the second best.

Broncos Whip Plainsmen In Opening Duo

Coach George Blankley's Bronco basketball squad is already in action. They have played two games with the Mountain Home air force base Plainsmen. Boise won both of these games.

In the first game Jerry Hill was high man with 19 counters, followed by Ron Ehlers with 10 and Dick Hartley with 9. Broncos 76, Mt. Home 47.

In the second game BJC scored 77 against the Plainsmen's 61. Bob Nelson and Jerry Hill were high for the night with 14 each, followed by Ron Ehlers with 13.

League play consists of 14 games this year with the opening game at Cedar City, Utah, on January 7. The Broncos play five games in four days then. The first regularly scheduled game of the season was played Tuesday, Dec. 7.

Round Robin Badminton Tournament Started In Women's P.E. Classes

Round-robin badminton tournaments have been started in the women's P.E. classes. Both singles and doubles are being played. In a round-robin tournament each team has to play every other team not just winners vs. winners and losers vs. losers as in the usual double elimination tournament. As the tournament progresses the results will be passed along to you.

In the two o'clock class there are mixed doubles now since Denny Brubaker and Arvin Spofford have gotten into the act. These fellas give the gals some good stiff competition in singles also.

When the class champions have been decided there is hope of having some inter-class play-offs, possibly in the evening.

Bakersfield Bus Trip Highlights

Since there really wasn't much scenery to look at over the Nevada desert, we on the student bus to Bakersfield resorted to singing songs (with the accompaniment of a uke and a harmonica), eating and playing cards.

In Winnemucca we met the College of Idaho's basketball team who were there for a game Friday night. Jane McKibben got quite a surprise after getting on the bus there. It had something to do with exploding sticks.

Reno is quite the place. Somehow a lot of our money seemed to disappear there—Hmmm? Harold's club is just as fascinating as it is built up to be.

Bakersfield sure looked good to us at 6:00 Saturday morning.

Coming back, we stopped in Sacramento to eat. The bus pulled up at Stan's Drive Inn. One of the boys yelled out the window, "Hey, how about some service?" The curb girl just about dropped her tray when she turned and saw our bus. We finally ended up inside.

In Sacramento the streets run alphabetically. We were on W street going up to K street, where Stan's is located. When we stopped for a red light the bus driver asked Mr. Rose to run up to the next street to see what the name was. He was half way out of the bus before he realized what was going on.

At Donner's Pass, on the way back, the bus came to a sudden halt. A truck was stuck in the snow. We had to wait until they pulled it out before we could go on. It could have turned out to be the "Fatal Donner Pass Party" as Bob Woods put it.

There's one thing we are still wondering about—was Liz Sharples really put to sleep by the magic powers of Ruth Iverson?

All we remember about Reno on the way back was Poor cocon, poor cocon."

We came into Boise about 10:30. It was an enjoyable trip, but most of us were pretty exhausted when we hit home.
